Regarding the proposal to make therapeutic training mandatory for general registration, I believe if it were to be implemented there should be exemptions granted in some situations, e.g in my case studying fulltime at university doing a medical degree makes it extremely difficult to complete the therapeutic course. I would not have the time to complete the course, nor would it be worth doing seeing I only work as an optometrist one day a week.

So in circumstances such as these, an exemption would be ideal.
